Dear Steve,

June 6, 1987

Its been great getting to know you this year. I love bugging you in Algebra and History. So does Sonya, your favorite person. Ha, Ha. I hope I see you and have you in some of my classes next year. What are you going to do during the summer? I finally might get a job. I hope I will. Sorry this is a different color pen Im continuing. Were in Trasons right now. I sort of like and dislike this class. It sometimes can be interesting. What are you going to do when you get out of High school? Im gonna go to an Academy. Dont laugh because thats what Im planning. How did you like playing golf. I like to play miniature. I might take it for next year. I don't know. Im finally 15 todays. Your 3 days older than I am. Are you going anyplace during the summer ~~ber~~ a job? Its hard to find jobs for an 15 year old. I hope ~~ane~~ ~~the~~ next year I have some classes with you. Our weight training room is way better in softball than yours! HA, HA, HA. Joking, your pretty good. You cater better than I do but I jam when I hit. Ferr Shurr!

Aquarium, Fishermen, Surfers, Ride the

A world class aquarium. A fleet of fishing boats flying bright flags. A windsurfer. A sleek Shields sailboat. They all rode the tide of Monterey Bay this year and MHS students and staff were part of the action.

The fleet of fishing boats with their bright flags carried the queen and princesses on the first Sunday after Labor Day. The Santa Rosalia Festival princesses included MHS students Lisa Davi, Michelle Cutino, and Josephine Licata. The MHS Marching Band, led by Mr. Stange, headed the Santa Rosalia parade. A mass took place, and clubs sold many Italian delicacies. People progressed to the wharf, embarking on boats for the blessing of these vessels. This festival started in the early 1900's when the famous Cannery Row was founded.

Cannery Row, already a famous historical place, will soon feature the Monterey Bay Aquarium. 2.3 million-year-old fossilized kelp found its way to the floor of this extravagant aquarium. "It will not be another Marine World" said former science teacher Mike Weesner. "It will be a very educational tourist attraction and a few jobs will be available as guides for the aquarium." Some members of the class of 1984 may work there soon. This project began in 1981 and is scheduled to be finished in the beginning of 1985.

Without its tides, Monterey would not be so fascinating. No more Asilomar or moonlit strolls on the beach. No more beach parties, or surfing. Most importantly, without the tides, the fishing and tourist industries wouldn't exist. One way or another students and staff all rode the tide in 1984.

Many Groups Ride the Tide to MHS.

They're Proud to be Separate, Proud to Fit In.

Did you notice all the different ethnic backgrounds that surround you? At MHS this year there were Afro-Americans, Asians from many different countries, Caucasians, Hispanics, and Filipinos.

The relative newcomers to MHS were the Vietnamese. "Before the Vietnamese came, it was a Black vs. White society, but now it is a Black and White vs. Vietnamese society." said Louise Rose, But others felt differently. Jeong Ha said, "I feel that the people at MHS get along well with each other." Some saw MHS's ethnic mix as a melting pot, but more people saw it as a salad, because different ethnic groups were tossed together, yet each group remained separate.

Sports, special events, and contests melted ethnic differences. Sports did this through team work and the satisfaction team members achieved, as a group, when they played well. Special events were rallies, sporting events, and the International Dinner. At the dinner, there were Spanish dancers from Gonzales, German bands, and pot luck dishes from the country of each club. Finally, the formation of the International Student Union brought students together. Gone were the formerly active Black and Asian Student Unions. Black and Asian students apparently didn't feel the need for these groups this year.

But for the Vietnamese, the most recently arrived, there was an organization which helped them to get used to their new society. Formed last year, it allowed any student, regardless of color or race to join. Like all groups at MHS, members were proud to be separate and proud to fit in.

Current Tides

Current trends and fashion were an everyday part of our lifestyle and they changed as fast as the tide. Somehow MHS students had the tendency to keep up with what's popular to wear and do.

Current fashion has been an endless "must" to most of the students, but the continuous question has been, "What actually is current in these days and times?" What is in style? Can you remember when bellbottoms, platform shoes, gauchos, velour sweaters, and Levis bendover polyester slacks were actually in? And miniskirts, pumps, penny-loafers, saddle shoes, anklecut pants and greased back hair were fashion you only thought were presented in your grandparents' time. That's not the story any more.

Believe it or not, all those fashion trends your grandparents wore were seen this year with many other styles. Needless to say, bell bottoms and platforms weren't particular favorites, but give them time. Some of the newest styles were the Flashdance, '50's and the contemporary well dressed look. And for the men on campus, the GQ and the rugged look competed. There were off the shoulder ripped, oversized, and sometimes inside-out sweatshirts, pumps, saddle shoes, jean jackets, minidresses, overlarge blazers, and much more. Our favorite colors were royal blue, shades of pink, black, and turquoise.

Fashion in clothes was not the only current tide. We also had current pastimes and hats were a popular fashion. Dating, physical fitness, and partying claimed prime time. Many enjoyed MV3, music videos of favorite groups and singers on television. Dating was more popular than steady relationships, and physical fitness became a mania. Partying featured a quick game of quarters, a confusing game of buzz, or just a couple of good friends getting together. Tides of fashion and fun found MHS students on the top of current trends.

Spirit Spills From All Directions

Spirit! What is school spirit? "Having fun," said senior Steve Taenaka. Spirit means having a good time and that's exactly what MHS students did this year. Rowdy rooters ran wild at games and especially at rallies. Why did students yell and cheer and "make fools of themselves"? Answer: Because it was fun! As senior Doris Cepeda said, "There is so much spunk at rallies. It's great!" But rallies and games were only a tiny percentage of the activities available to students. Multitudes of activities at MHS offered many chances to get involved.

Clubs attracted people with different backgrounds and interests. The Key Club provided students the opportunity to participate in community services. For the first time, girls were permitted to join. When asked if she would join the Keywanettes (the female division of the Key Club) if her membership was rejected, senior Amy Hutcherson replied, "Not in a million years. If girls can go out for football, why can't they join the Key Club?"

Young Life proved to be the most popular club in school. When asked why people enjoy it so much, senior Nicole Hazdovac commented, "You become really close with everyone there." Other popular clubs included the ski club, drama club, and Close Up.

Spirit-raising events occurred throughout the year. Most of these were sponsored by the ASB and the leadership class. The deck became the popular place to hold such activities during lunch.

School spirit meant having fun and having fun meant having lots of activities. The year of 1983-84 was littered with spirit!

Bagels, Beanbags Launch Lunch

"Sour Cream on cinnamon and raisin!" shouted junior Julie Park before she even hit the door to the Bagel Bakery. The mad noontime rush had begun.

Not everyone hurried at lunchtime though. Some people found that walking up to Via Paraiso Park was a great way to spend the time. Sophomore Lisa Newton stated that she liked to "go up to the park and try to forget about school."

On campus, the benches, the mall, and the smoking area were popular places. But were there things to do? Senior Greg Galuppo eagerly commented, "Dragging freshmen down the halls, hanging out in the mall, and causing trouble keeps me pretty busy." Playing Hacky Sack was another noontime favorite among MHS students at noontime. You could always find groups of four or five kicking around that little bean bag in ways that would blow your mind.

A lot of people had some very creative noontime ideas. Freshman Debbie Gee stressed that she would like to see "more cute guys," whereas sophomore Eric Tarallo wanted to see "more good looking girls."

The 2:30 Bell: Free at Last; Peaceful Rest or Getting Rowdy

Is there life after 2:30 pm? That's when life starts! But what kind of after school lives do MHS students lead? "I go home watch tv and attempt to do my homework," said junior Dottie Chavous. "When I get home I usually kick back with some music, food, and a good book," commented senior Sondra Lee. "I enjoy skateboarding after school," stated sophomore Donald Brewer. But the most common after school activities seemed to be eating, watching tv, going to work, going to sports practice, and of course doing homework.

However, the end of the school day is not the answer to everyone's problems. In fact, some MHS students dislike the sound of the 2:30 bell. "I hate walking to the transit plaza and listening to the private school kids talk, yell, and scream on the bus," declared senior Mary Dela Cruz. "I dislike nothing about after school except coming back the next day," said senior Dadra Burks. On the other hand, many students look forward to being dismissed at 2:30 "I like the peace and tranquility of after school," stated senior Scott Mountford. "I like getting rowdy with my friends on the school bus," said senior Joe Apodaca.

What activities would MHS students like to see happen after school? "I would like to see more group activities so our classmates can have a chance to be closer," said junior Sheila Pierson. "something of interest such as the activities that are done during lunch," commented sophomore Lisa Smith.

At the sound of the 2:30 bell, the monotony of the school day is broken. The most tired people are rejuvenated and the halls are suddenly alive with students, free at last!

MHS Makes Weekend Waves

Whether it was going to a football game, listening to a band at the Old Monterey Music Hall, or cruising the set, the weekends always brightened the school year.

When asked what was the best thing about weekends, senior Lori Johnson replied, "Getting together with good friends and partying." Others said cruising around or hitting Swensen's Ice Cream Factory was where you could always find students after the Friday night football game held at MPC.

Movies were also a very popular activity on a Saturday night. Although Rocky Horror has been out for seven years, Lisa Kinard still went on occasional Saturday nights to the Dream Theater to catch a midnight showing of the film classic.

Working was a important aspect of every weekend. Any Saturday you could stroll down the wharf and find Chuck Carmenita working at the pretzel stand.

After any weekend, kids planned for the weekend ahead.

Music Had Soul, Synchronicity, Style

The types of music that MHS students liked were as different as sweet and sour. For instance, soul music was very popular with many students. "It has more rhythm to dance to," said sophomore Lisa Smith. "It is synonymous with internal rhythms that have been in my blood for generations," stated sophomore Glenn Leverette. Artists like Zapp, Michael Jackson, Midnight Star, and the Mary Jane Girls rated highly among soul lovers.

From another point of view, The Police, Journey, and The Fixx seemed to be favorites. These songsters clicked with the rock set. "Rock is my favorite type of music," proclaimed junior Todd Harris. "It gets me moving."

One of the newest sounds making its debut is New Wave. Musicians like David Bowie, Duran Duran, Oingo Boingo, Madness, Berlin, and Bow Wow Wow scored highly with New Wave fans.

Even though not everybody had the same taste, everyone loved music. Music will definitely live forever at MHS.

Surf, Sand, and Disneyland

Being a senior means everything from a lot of hard work to a lot of fun. Some of the main attractions are the annual Grad-Night at Disneyland and a week of sun and surf in Hawaii. This year's Hawaii trip (June 20 to 31) has almost forty participants. Ron Bettencourt and Roger Wells, chaperones for the trip, look forward to the trip probably as much as the kids. Why do you do it every year? Roger Wells said, "I enjoy the scenery, being with the graduating class, and having the opportunity to take a brief vacation."

Many seniors, including Karen Buckledee have many plans for the active week. "I want to lay out in the sun, party with C.A.S.P.E.R., enjoy being 18 in Hawaii, scope with Nicole Nazdovac, and show Wells and Bettencourt how to have a really good time!"

Another senior activity, and one of the most popular is a night in Disneyland. In mid-May, buses leave McNeil Field and head for the Magic Kingdom. Although the bus ride lasts up to seven hours, it's half the fun. Why do you think Grad-Night in Disneyland is so much fun? Senior Kirsten Marschik said, "Meeting people from other schools and all the excitement makes it something I'll remember for a long time."

Breaking the Sound Barrier

"What's the big attraction?" The crowds gathered and the music blasted. Guys dressed in black and white rolled on a piece of cardboard or tile. What was this latest craze?

Breakdancing! But what's the difference between breakdancing and popping? Popping deals with the waving of your body and arms, but breakdancing requires balancing skills, strength and coordination, especially in your arms and legs. This new type of street dance, a combination of martial arts and gymnastics, originated in New York.

"The purpose of breakdancing is to get their anger out by breakdancing rather than fighting," said breakdancer Sammy Dela-Cruz.

But not just anybody can breakdance. It takes endurance, motivation and close attention. Take, for example, senior Tony King. "I've been dancing all my life. I first saw breakdancing on the news and then I saw another feature about it on 'That's Incredible,' and the next thing I knew everybody was doing it."

The sole breaking groups at MHS were the Monterey Breaking Crew and Synchrohized Action.

Breakdancers preferred the well known master-mixed music with scratching. Master-mixing, like breakdancing, takes skill. This new form of deejaying also originated in New York in about 1979. To master-mix, two turntables, headphones and a mixer are required. Instead of playing one record you can manipulate (cut) the records on beat to create a new sound.

One of the hottest master-mixing groups around the Monterey Bay was MHS's own Conspiracy Crew. This DJ Crew, consisting of Roger "Stro-Man" Reed, Randy "Cut-Master R-D" Williams, Alex "Shockn'-AC" Colston, and Tony "T-Wave" Lewis, had some of the "cleanest" mixes.

What exactly was the purpose of master-mixing? "To create your own versions of music," said Randy Williams (Cut-Master R-D). "To enhance the sound of the jam," said Alex Colston (Shockin'-AC) of the Conspiracy Crew.

The Conspiracy Crew performed at the 501's dance in September and at last year's talent show. The Monterey Breaking Crew performed in the mall, and at the end of the library hall. Our other breakdancing group, Syncronized Action, performed at our basketball homecoming rally. At MHS this year these were "the breaks."

Working on one on One

What is Young Life? Young Life is an organization which gives high school kids a chance to grow, meet other kids, and learn more about God.

This past year it was held every Monday night at Green Gables and was also held with PG High students. What the group actually does is round up kids from both MHS and PG to organize activities which bring high school students together to develop a one on One relationship with the Lord. Skits, pranks, and singing are all part of Young Life activities. Young Life leaders offered guidance and support to all involved and tried to give suggestions to help guide kids. Young Life has a camp a called Woodleaf where some students go during the summer.

Young Life and Fellowship of Christian Athletes both encourage kids to have wholesome fun in a Christian atmosphere. FCA's camp is held during the summers only and is held at Fresno Pacific. Heidi Linkenbach liked her camp experience for "the ride up, the meeting and making of new friends, and the all around good time."

Fans Flock to Football, Basketball Homecoming

Continuing the tradition started last year, the parents joined their sons on the MHS court to celebrate basketball homecoming. Each cheerleader had a basketball shaped piece of cardboard decorated with stars and green and gold lettering with each of the varsity's players' names. Each cheerleader had a different player's name and the names were spread out through the middle of the MHS home basketball court. As each of the player's names was announced, the player was handed a rose and went to the cheerleader who had his name. There his mother, father, or both parents greeted the player with a rose and a hug.

The basketball homecoming game was one of the most exciting games MHS played all season. Even though MHS lost in the end 52 to 58, the varsity played a terrific game.

This year's football homecoming game was a great succcess. Monterey beat Watsonville 45-0. From the first quarter Monterey came out smoking and very much on top. The game was ours all the way. The football homecoming court was Jerome Robinson, King, Talisa Reed, Queen, Kevin Ahern, Prince, and Nicole Hazdovac, Senior attendant, Theresa Peterson and Pat Schrady junior attendant and prince, Trevor Winston and Darcy Hatton for Sophomore prince and attendant, and Butch Knight and Esperanza Santos were the freshmen prince and attendant.

Ski Club Soars Down Slopes at Squaw

How does it feel to soar down the icy cold slopes of Northern California? Many MHS students were lucky enough to have that experience, if they went on the ski trip this year. The MHS Ski Club travelled to Squaw Valley in Lake Tahoe on January 13 through January 15. About 50 MHS students attending MHS were allowed to go this year.

This year's officers of the Ski Club were Karen Buckeldee, president; Mary Starr, Vice president; and Steve Thomas, secretary. When asked why she enjoyed ski trips, senior Mary Starr replied, "It's a chance to get as far away as possible from Monterey. Besides, we have a killer time on the bus trip." All of the officers were very happy with the large response to the Ski Club this year. In past years, it has often been difficult to get enough people to sign up for the ski trips. That was not the case this year. Advisor Dan Waiswilos said that he was very happy with the group that went to Squaw Valley this year.

"Go Big Green,"

"Go big green!" Cheerleaders and band members raised school spirit by joining forces with this chant at games and rallies. "Go big green," signalled success for both groups.

For the band, the highlight of this year was, "winning two trophies in the Pismo Beach Parade and Street Show," according to band member Kelly Haas. With a larger and more balanced group than ever, band members performed in many local parades and important events, such as Back to School Night.

This year the band also went to Yosemite as a field trip. The band hopes for next year to have an even bigger group than this year, by playing at local Junior High Schools and recruiting freshmen. They also hope to have a larger flag team and banner carriers. Chris Miller summed up the year: "We for the first time are a motivated band led by a motivated drum major and our success proves the importance of this accomplishment." This year in Jazz Band we are fortunate to have Kenny Kipp, who just won membership to an exclusive club that he tried out for.

For the cheerleaders, the highlight of this year was Basketball Homecoming when the spirit was uncontrollable. Like the band they also have a larger squad this year. There were sophomores on the varsity and new all white uniforms. Cheerleader Trevor Winston summed up, "Cheerleaders were better than ever this year because of the size and quality of the squad."

Key Club and Keywanettes

Key Club or Keywanettes? Some girls had to make this choice when Key Club opened its membership to young women. Keywanette president Cora Mendoza expressed her feelings, "It isn't right that two clubs at the same school doing practically the same thing should be fighting." Declining membership, Mendoza's concern, prompted a Keywanette membership drive in December.

With a little competition, each club was committed to bettering itself. The Keywanettes won an award for their "Dues in on Time," which was important to their club and the school district. The highlight of their year was the annual convention which was in Sacramento. This year they had younger and more motivated club members.

The Key Club increased its membership early this year. "The admittance of girls to the club supplied us with a trememdous boost in morale," said Sebby Rider, President. As the club with more money than any other club except the ASB, Key Club earned prestige. The highlight of their year was the annual convention in Anaheim, attended by ten club members selected by the club president. This club also sponsored a child in Nigeria, and hosted the annual Senior Citizens Dinner.

Serving the school, and the city, the Key and Keywanette Clubs will continue to make important contributions in our lives.

Peer Educators: 24 Hour Experts;

Twenty-four hours of training turned many MHS students into experts . . . expert peer educators. In their training they learned skills which enabled them to lead class discussions on sex education among the sophomores and freshmen.

"I think it's a great program. Students are trained to teach other students and have the opportunity to go into the classroom and use the skills they have learned," said Jean Curtis who directed the program.

Peer educator Kathleen Podrasky said the most interesting thing about being a peer educator is "the students' reaction to the presentation of birth control."

This program, which has been in effect since 1977, not only was beneficial to the underclassmen, but to the peer educators as well.

The Craftsmen Club was one of the busiest and most highly acclaimed clubs on campus. Every day during first period, these hard-working students met, not to build projects for themselves, but to serve and improve the school.

Jerry Blanchard, who supervised the Craftsmen Club, said that "students can learn something while helping the school by saving money. So everybody wins." He added, "This was an outstanding year because of the greater number of committed students. This is the kind of group that one can look back at and say, "It was a very good year'." In this club, students get graded like a job. Their pay is their grade.

The Craftsmen Club also built needed equipment for the IBM computers in room 97. If the club didn't repair and build these necessities, the district would have had to hire someone to do it.

Mike Short, who won a student of the month award and is one of the outstanding workers in the club, commented that "It's a good feeling to accomplish something for the school. And with the recognition we receive, it's worth it!

Why was it that Steve Branson got to New Zealand in January? How did Nathan Eliason manage to go to Argentina?

They got to these faraway places because they are both AFS students. Other countries available to AFS are Sri Lanka, Barbados, Italy, Thailand, and many others. To be eligible for an AFS program you must be a sophomore, junior, or senior in high school and be interviewed by an AFS approved section committee.

The purpose of AFS is, "to provide students with the opportunity to live and attend school in a foreign country." said head counselor Carol Taylor. AFS also will help develop close contacts with some of the world's most exciting people. "I hope to gain a greater understanding of other's cultures and the people in them," said Nathan Eliason.

Another of the more traveled clubs was Close Up. In February the Close Up club went to Washington, D.C. to witness the development of the presidential campaigns. Staying at the Hyatt Regency, the club was in Washington from February 26 to March 3. The purpose of the club was to get a close up view of Washington. This year's visit was more exciting because of the presidential elections.

According to club advisor Jay Bautista, "Students going to Washington, D.C. next February will participate in the best student government program offered in the United States."

Lunch Time Linguists: Spanish,

Sprechen Sie Deutsch!?

People of the German Club did every Wednesday in room 79 during lunch. At these meetings, members discussed annual fundraisers such as the pretzels and rootbeer sale during Homecoming. Club members had their hands full this year planning fundraising projects to work towards bigger goals such as sending some of the club members to Vienna, Austria.

Ilse Daly, German Club adviser, said "Having a German Club is a chance to earn money so we can go on trips and the club gives the students the practice of holding an office. Also, it provides a chance for us to do things we don't have time to do in class."

"I feel it can be fun when everybody works together to plan out activities and fundraisers," said German Club president Lynn Burke.

A lot more things were planned by the German Club and all of the officers worked together to make this year a success.

Because of a decline of membership in all of the foreign language clubs, plans have been made to combine all foreign language clubs to form one major club. By doing this, students will be able to study the cultures of French, German, and Spanish.

The International Studies Program, sponored by the Monterey County Office of Education, was in its second year. Students with two years of successful language learning experience in Spanish, French, or German were eligible to participate. Students from other peninsula schools came to MHS for a two hour block of language and culture instruction. After two years, students will be able to graduate with a certificate in International Studies, enabling them to complete in the job international market.

Spanish . . . America's second language. But to some of the students of MHS it was the first. Members of the Spanish Club met in room 75 at lunch every two weeks to plan fundraisers such as the selling of mistletoe at Christmas time and red roses during Valentine's. Besides fundraisers the Spanish Club went to Mexican restaurants, had pot lucks, and most importantly, supported an orphan in Mexico. Students also did research on the country to tell other members.

Spanish Club adviser Mr. Gonzales commented that the Spanish Club "is a worthwhile experience for those who are interested in Spanish. The members will receive what they put forth." Spanish Club president Adela Garcia said "I like the Spanish Club because I get to share my opinions with all the members and we get to understand more about the Spanish culture."

One of the newest clubs on campus, the Vietnamese Club, was open to anybody who wanted to join.

Vietnamese Club members met in room 73 a few times a month, under the supervision of Dr. Thanh, to plan activities such as the Tet New Year, soccer matches, and the publication of the Vietnamese magazine.

Thanh Van Tran, president of the Vietnamese Club said that "It's a good club for Vietnamese students so they can get involved with MHS."

French, the language of romance. What makes French and its culture so romantic? To know this and more people joined the French Club. Meeting in room 80 during lunch, members discussed the sales of chocolate fondue, bake sales, field trips and their participation in the International Dinner.

Even though the French Club didn't have as many students as planned, that didn't prevent the French Club from being active. Field trips to the Monterey Museum of Art, French restaurants and French movies kept the members involved.

Carmen Scholis, French Club adviser, said "I think it's a good way for teenagers to have fun and I'm glad to see them interested in another culture."

"I feel the French Club will give the club members an opportunity to enhance their knowledge in French culture," said French Club president Kathy Chan.

"Say Cheeeese!"

The Photo Club went on field trips to Yosemity and San Fransisco where they took evening moonlight photos.

Mr. Weesner singled out two special photographers, Ursula Glick and Andrea Press, who were chosen as two of the top fifty high school photographers in the nation.

"Checkmate!"

Chess Club members met in the physics room every day during lunch to discuss tournaments and determine positions on the ladder.

Because of a larger membership, the Chess Club was more active this year . . . full of people eager to learn and become better Chess players.

"I love the game and I enjoy watching the students play it," commented Chess Club adviser, Mr. Surman. Scott Mountford, the Chess Club's president, said the Chess Club "helps people think and get along with each other." Encouraged by their growing membership, club members planned to hold challenges.

"The Rifle Club is a good activity for someone who wants to accomplish something on their own," said Rifle Club adviser Jim Bowman. The Rifle Club was designed to teach firearms safety as well as the proper care and handling of firearms while club members had fun. The club firing was done at the Monterey City Police Department on Tuesday nights at 5:30. All the hard practice and training led to individual competition and a chance to be awarded with a medal, bazzard and certificate for scoring highly. Rifle Club member Vince Maiorana said the "Rifle Club can be beneficial in the future. It teaches you how to use the gun safely and properly and can be of use when going hunting or target practicing."

Freedom Of The

Upon entering room 78 at sixth period one is instantly met by the highstrung atmosphere of journalistic production. Freedom of the press at MHS meant either Galleon, our newspaper, or El Susurro, our school's yearbook.

The gargantuan 1983-84 Galleon staff consisted of 23 people, and their advisor, John Hoffman. The Galleon won second place in the American Scholastic Press Association high school competition last year.

Advisor Hoffman stated that the most controversial article was called Smoking To Be Eliminated? The article was covered by senior Andy Fraembs, and discussed the pros and cons of smoking.

The most difficult article, according to Hoffman, was called Parent Boosters Actively Support Football Teams, covered by junior John Sisson.

"The difference between this year's staff and last year's is the overabundance of live, kicking bodies that we have this year," Hoffman pointed out. He seemed very proud of the quantity and quality of his journalists.

El Susurro, our yearbook, didn't have nearly as many people working on it as on the newspaper staff. When asked to describe the 1983-84 yearbook staff, editor H. Scott Mountford used some very colorful words. "Hardworking, committed, determined," he gloated, and then admitted, "and terribly overworked. The hardest thing was meeting our deadlines, but we had persistence."

Galleon and El Susurro proved that the pen is mightier than the sword!

This year's Math Club was very active throughout the year. They competed in monthly math contests with other high schools and they spent a lot of time preparing for the County Math Contest held in April. The contest was based on Algebra I, Geometry, and Algebra II. The three best math students in the school were selected to compete.

What advantages did Science Club members have over students in regular science classes? Science Club advisor John Whisler said "Science Club has two main objectives. One is to find which courses to take in order to pursue a career in science. And another is what to do once you've taken those courses." Among their activities, they planned various field trips centered around careers in science, a science bulletin board, guest speakers, and different types of research.

Being a member of the National Honor Society was quite an "honor"; not only was a 3.6 grade point average necessary, but teachers always selected members for this club.

Did club members want to see NHS expand or remain an elite club? NHS president Kendall Hatton said, "The purpose is to recognize those students who work really hard and get good grades. Lowering the standards would only defeat the purpose."

CSF, another academic club, was based strictly on grade point average. To become a lifetime member, a student had to meet the requirement six out of seven semesters, one of which must be in his or her senior year. This year, CSF visited UC Berkeley and planned to visit Davis in the Spring.

Art Club spent most of its time raising money to go to San Francisco and visit various art museums. To raise money, they sold green and gold caterpillars during Homecoming Week and they had a Cupid come and give students an opportunity to shoot an arrow at someone on Valentines Day. Art Club advisor Joan Wethington said, "Going to a real art museum will be a good experience for the kids. A lot of them have never been to one and some have never even been to San Francisco. This is a good opportunity."

Food Club president Carla Roch declared, "Being in Foods Club this year has really been fun." Among their activities, Foods Club sold apple and cherry turnovers during Homecoming Week, cookies and punch at the freshmen football games, and planned to bake cookies and cakes for children in hospitals during the holiday season.

"A poor player who struts and frets his hour upon the stage . . ."

Drama Club president Lisa Kinard discovered the true meaning of this line (quoted from Shakespeare's Macbeth) in the Drama Club this year. "The hardest play," she said, "was The Man Who Came To Dinner, because a comedy is always hard to do."

The biggest club event was their visit to the American Construction Theatre in San Francisco. "The big difference between this year's Drama Club and last year's is that we didn't go anywhere or do anything last year. We finally fully appreciated the outside world," she said.

Another club that involved public speaking was the Junior Statesmen. "Junior Statesmen," said advisor Dwight Thompson, "concentrates on debating controversial issues in America, and it has a state organization similar to the California state government. This includes a legislature, and elective executive officers who planned and coordinated local and state conventions. The conventions had as many as 2000 students in attendance from throughout the state." In November, MHS travelled to San Francisco and attended the northern region state convention involving 1500 students (from northern states) at the St. Francis and Sir Francis Drake Hotels.

The Monterey chapter took the lead form new chapters in 1984 in Monterey on January 14. Debate topics centered on foreign policy and students' rights, according to advisor Thompson. He also said that Berkley had one of the toughest chapters.

Junior Statesmen involved grades 9-12 for the first time, and built a real foundation for future years.

ASB, PAC, Model UN

Any Sleeping Baby? A Soggy Biscuit? All Sinking Boats? A Super Balloon? What did the letters ASB stand for? It stood for Associated Student Body, which was at the head of nearly all of our school activities this year: the rallies, assemblies, and homecomings. They also kept the sports and the band going with the general fund they made from dances, games, and concession stands, and other fundraisers. This year their budget was over $23,000.

The ASB, advised by Dan Albert, met every Monday at fourth period in room 37. The first and second semester presidents were Steve Taenaka and Joe Apodaca.

Some of the most important events, according to advisor Albert, were blood drives, canned food drives, the talent show, the fashion show, and exchange days with other high schools.

ASB weren't the only important three letters at Monterey. Another significant group was the PAC, or Principal's Advisory Committee. The PAC participated in decision making by advising the principal of MHS on matters pertaining to school. According to principal Jim Anderson, activities included "inquiring, informing, suggesting, recommending, and evaluating."

Some areas of interest were counseling, attendance, vandalism, litter, and school and classroom rules. The PAC attempted to minimize the generation gap by including parents in their activities.

The PAC met on the second Wednesday of every month on the lower level of the administration building.

According to Mr. Anderson, the most important PAC event was helping the principal work on the high school committee for curriculum.

There was another important group without three initials: Model United Nations advised by Bently Wallis. Model UN provided opportunities for students on the high school level to get involved with United Nations organizations and the way they deal with world problems. They also debated and studied the processes of logical thinking.

Model UN, which met in room 93 at noon irregularly, was "small but effective," said advisor Wallis.

He was slightly disappointed that there wasn't more interest this year.

According to Wallis, the most important event to happen to Model UN this year was the trip to Berkeley from March first to March third. Students from all over California went there to represent foreign countries and discuss world situations. There was never a dull moment at MHS!

No matter how tough the opponents were this year, the Dores always managed to make it close. Accumulating a deceiving 5-5 record throughout the torrential downpours of the season, the Toreadores attracted new found attention with their exciting play. Against Carmel in the first game of the season, the Dores jumped all over the Padres by gaining 445 yards in the 34-27 stomping.

Then on Homecoming, the Dores took all their aggressions out and presented the departing MBL Watsonville Wildcats with a gift, a 45-0 shellacking. With this win, the team managed to revive the Dore spirit of old among the students and the faithful fans. Coach Robinson stated, "The football program at Monterey High is being revitalized. It is becoming a program with integrity and character that merits the respect of our opponents and supporters."

The outstanding performers for the Dores this year were: Golden Helmet - Tony Fraembs, Most Inspirational - Robert Vierra, Most Valuable Lineman - Steve Bruno, Most Outstanding - Kevin Ahern, Most Outstanding Back - Harry Williams, and the Co-Captains - Robert Vierra and Kevin Ahern. All MBL Honors went to linebacker Tony Fraembs and tight-end Kevin Ahern. The Most Valuable Performer in the Seaside game was Ronald Eskridge. With 16 returning lettermen next year, the Monterey Toreadores should become a highly regarded team.

JV/FROSH. 2ND

This year the JV and Freshmen Football Teams each finished a respective second in their leagues. As the season progressed, each team came into their own after early losses to rampage on the teams in the league; however, for each team the decisive point came down to the final against Seaside. The Picadores met the Spartans first on Nov. 9 and battled to a 14-14 tie. The J.V.'s went into Seaside followed by a storm front and fell short 16-0. Even though the final game of the season wasn't spectacular, the rest of the season was nothing short of it. Coach Bettencourt said of his freshman team, "1983 freshman football squad was an outstanding squad. When this team is varsity, they should be the team to beat in the MBL. If they work hard in the off season, they will represent the MBL's in the CCS playoffs."

Outstanding freshman player was William Parker; for the JV's, it was Chris Smith.

Hatton, Ferarra Pace Cross Country Squad

This year Monterey had a number of prize runners.

Darcy Hatton, who received the most outstanding female runner award from Coach John Whisler at the fall banquet, set Toro Park's MBL record for the new coarse made in the beginning of this year. She also won the women's division of Bayonettes. Darcy commented, "Running makes me feel good; it keeps me in good condition and allows me to eat as much as I want".

Most outstanding male runner was Paul Ferarra. Most improved awards went to two returning members, Amy Cruzan and Tim Harrison.

The men's Frosh/Soph team was undefeated until they met Gilroy in their last meet. They ended up the season with a 5-1 in wins. The men's Varsity had a 3-6 and the wonen's team was incomplete. Not enough girls signed up to form a team, but this did not eliminate girls from running in meets.

Coach Whisler said that the Crosscountry team next year should be very strong with its returning runners and that this year's team was very consistant in its performance.

Girls Volleyball Popular

Girls' volleyball was very popular. This year's unselfish varsity team had a main goal—teamwork. When MHS lost a game, it was not from lack of team spirit, but because the other team had outstanding players. As Coach Mike Weesner explained, "Our girls worked very hard. They gave one hundred per cent, and it showed in our outstanding team play."

Varsity training began two weeks before school started. The team worked on running and calesthenics, such as pushups and situps. After two weeks they worked on team play which included basic forehand, spiking, serving, and setting.

Coach Weesner singled out best offensive player Kirsten Marschik, best defensive player Geri Ciandro, and most valuable player Andrea Press.

This season's JV volleyball team had teamwork and individual skill. Their training consisted of basic skills like setting, bumping, spiking, and positioning. New coach Dan Myers said, "This was a new experience, and it was very exciting to see the individual skill and all of the teamwork."

This season's team captain was Therese Ahern, most valuable player was Laurel DePhillips, and the most inspirational was Terri Copas.

Combining the experience of seniors with the enthusiasm of underclassmen, the varsity wrestling squad ended a rebuilding season with a 4-3 record.

Throughout the season the wrestling team ignited excitement throughout the crowd. But when they hosted the double dual meet which included San Lorenzo High and two Hawaii teams, feelings ran ever higher as our MHS wrestlers took the meet handily.

Stickers Strive With Spirit

When a person thinks of hockey, the first thing that usually comes to mind is muscular men, ice and violence, but it doesn't necessarily have to be that way. The Stickers, Monterey's field hockey team, proved that fact this year at MHS. The team consisted of forty-seven of Monterey's girls ranging from freshmen to seniors.

The Strickers were coached by Joan Walthour, who said of her team, "All my girls are special. I loved the fact that they worked together and were always willing to learn." She could think of nothing that she disliked about her team.

According to Coach Walthour, this year the toughest competitor was York's field hockey team.

Coach Walthour concluded, "Although we didn't have a very good season this year, next year's team is going to the league championships!"

The MHS girls' varsity swim team splashed to second place in the MBL during the '83 season, turning out excellent performances by all swimmers. With their 6-2 record, the loss of many outstanding varsity swimmers from last year didn't make a difference. The team was led by Melissa Lum, who was both the most outstanding swimmer, as well as team captain.

Melissa has received the award for most outstanding swimmer ever since her sophomore year. Other awards were given to Terri Whisler, most improved; and the outstanding diver award went to Clementa Gustafson.

Coach Ken Esaki said the best part about the swim team was going to CCS. "It gives the girls a chance to really show their skills among the best high school swimmers in California."

CCS, Central Coast Section, was attended by many MHS swimmers. Among them were: Melissa Lum in 100 back stroke, two relay teams consisting of Terri Whisler, Joy Dixon, Lisa Donaldson, and Kelly Lind in the 200 individual medley, Melissa Lum, Joy Dixon, Lisa Donaldson, and Heidi Linkenbach in the 400 relay. Clementa Gustafson and Heidi Linkenbach represented MHS in the diving competition.

The JV awards went to Kathy Waligora and Heather Hollingsworth for outstanding JV swimmer. Junior Varsity diver, Rachael Adams, who was on the team for the first time, said "You only get out of it what you put into it. I tried a lot more towards the end of the season and I really got a lot out of it."

"I learned so much more this year than I did last year. Kenny is the best coach I've ever had. He was a real inspiration.
- Clementa Gustafson

Swimmers Stroke for Success

The MHS Boy's Swimming and Diving Team did not start off the season too badly. Their first league meet against Live Oak was a real disappointment, despite the admirable performances by team captain Peter Sisson and David Dixon. The team won their second league meet against Seaside, bringing Monterey's league record to one win and one loss.

Team spirit was high and the team started on their way to more victories. The boys' team was relatively young this year, with only four graduating seniors. Hopes ran high for a good overall performance this year. Returning team members planned to use the experience they gained this year and looked forward to next year's season.

Motivated and dedicated members were the key ingredients of our track and field teams. Varsity sprinter Kevin Ahern commented, "Our track teams have improved greatly since last year. We have a lot more depth and many people are only sophomores and juniors. The girls' and the boys' track teams should really improve in the next few years." According to coach Don Gabbert, field has also greatly improved with more strength in division.

"You must be dedicated, not worry too much about winning, and put out one hundred percent," commented varsity sprinter Floyd Barco.

"I think it's the best sport anybody can go out for. It's fun and outgoing and keeps you in shape at the same time," said varsity sprinter Lisa Smith.

The two field events that seemed to draw the most interest were the triple jump and the long jump.

Even though there wasn't enough equipment for track practice, the coaches managed to direct the teams well, emphasizing individual achievement and making sure all the equipment was in order.

The only complaints about track this year were the lack of coaches and the girls' uniforms. The toughest competitor was Seaside, but outstanding sprinters Floyd Barco and Carolyn Gales and distance runners Paul Ferrara and Darcy Hatton, helped make our teams a competitive group of athletes.

"I have to consider this a building year because there were not too many seniors," said coach Don Gabbert.

As returning MBL champions, the MHS varsity basketball team supposedly faced some extra pressures.

But according to returning varsity player Troy Cole, the pressures weren't that great. "It was a new season with new players and a new team. We didn't try to match last year's performance. We just played our hardest."

Despite a definite height disadvantage, the Dores finished the season in fifth place overall with a league record of 4 wins and 11 losses. Their overall record stood at 9 wins and 16 losses.

But whether the team won or lost a game, they still had the support of their fellow students and fans. Sophomore Amy Cruzan said, "I would have gone to the games even if they were in last place. I always had a great time."

Both Ronald Eskridge and Craig Tarantino were honored with the awards of team captain and Most Valuable Player. At the end of the season, the league coaches placed Francis Banks and Craig Tarantino on the All-League team. Ron Eskridge received an Honorable Mention award.

With the "brilliant" coaching of Coach Randy Randall, the team played well and returning players have high hopes for next year's season.

JV, Frosh Finish Third, Second

Even though the JV basketball team had skill in handling the ball and the drive to sink it, they just didn't put things in place early enough to take victory over any of their first five opponents. Relief and excitement were undoubtedly released during their game against Palma when the 'Dores slammed the door on their losing record and snatched a victory by a three point lead. Leading the team was Martin Silguero, with 12 points.

The newcomers, the freshmen and their coach, Jeff Uchida, came in 15-7 overall and 5-4 in league, putting them in second place.

"The team was really competitive. They played all their games really close. As the season progressed, they began to play like a team," stated Coach Uchida.

The team voted these awards: Albert Olorvida for defense, Ivan Edwards for offense, and Brian Waligora and Joey Rappa as team captains.

NBA usually stands for *N*ational *B*asketball *A*ssociation, but this year at MHS it could have stood for *N*ot for *B*oys *A*nymore. Monterey had an excellent girls' basketball team because of the general "never say 'die' " attitude of the team.

Regis Hurley, the team's coach, said, "My girls never quit. They hung in there and had fortitude for giving their all."

Varsity player Chrystal Calderon said, "At the beginning, we didn't really work as a team, but when we did, we played better"

Sophomore Lisa Smith Said, "I enjoyed basketball because it was like work and play. We had to work hard, but we got good laughs."

Varsity players seemed to agree that the most satisfying game was against North Salinas. Why? "Because we won!" they said.

Angie Gales, who played JV said, "The hardest part was keeping my temper in games. What I'll remember most is the first basket I made, and the feeling that came with it."

Sophomore Ella Williams said "The biggest risk in the game was going up for a rebound and getting dropped."

Antoinette Pinkston felt that she won the most improved JV player award because "I came late in the season but still started and scored."

Teresa Oliphant felt she won JV MVP because she worked to the best of her abilities. She added that she would like to thank her mother and all others who helped her to win the award.

This year was one for learning experiences. We had a good time and a great team.

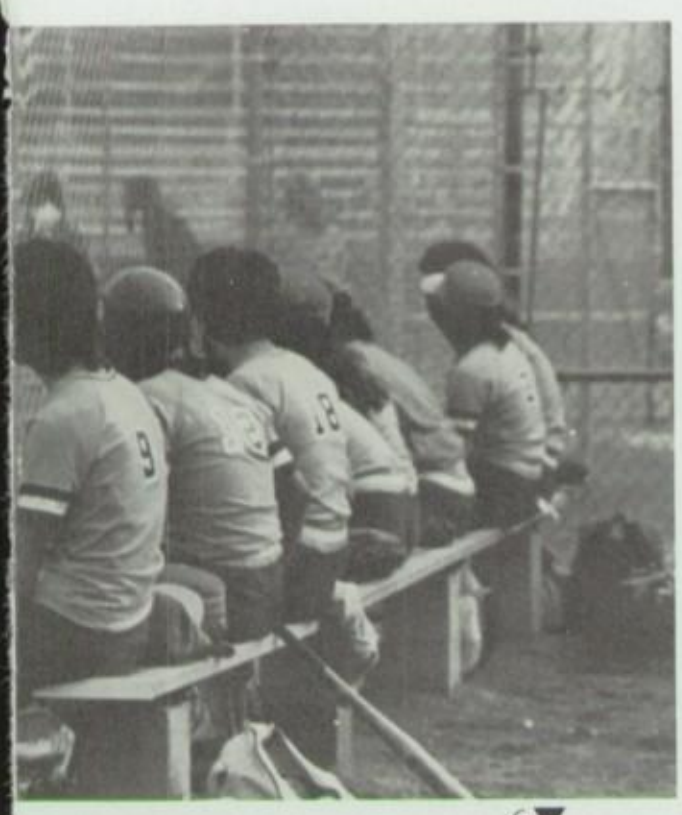
Softball Swings, Striving for the Top



This past season was one for the girls' softball teams to remember. The JV began the season with a record of 8-0 and the varsity made a good start also with a 5-3 record.

Due to the rain, many games were cancelled and had to be postponed to a later date. But this didn't stop the practices, which usually continued in MHS's main gym. At the beginning of the season, the girls really had to hustle through the weeks because they had 3 to 4 games during a week. But this strengthened the determination of both teams.

When asked how the teams got along, Donna Faro replied, "We were dyno! We had a lot of team spirit, and we were all more serious about the games we played." There were only three returning varsity players, Geri Ciandro, Karen Buckledee, and Jolynn Acquaviva, all of whom really pulled the team through the season.

Coach Ted Robinson, who followed '83's JV's players and coached the varsity team for the first time said the varsity players were "much more eager to learn and able to concentrate on the game in any situation." He followed up his statement by saying he felt they had a really good time.

Although rain dominated the beginning of the season last year, things were brighter for the 'Dores this year. With only two returning varsity players, Adam Trosky, and Mike Bruno, the team compensated well for its inexperience. The varsity began their season with two wins against Aptos and RLS. Senior left fielder Andy Fraembs commented, "I'm really surprised how much team spirit has helped pull the team together. We're really beginning to make things work." The new varsity team also consisted of freshman Sal Ferrante, and sophomore Anthony B. Davi who showed excellent performances at all games. When asked about playing varsity baseball, Davi said, "The players are better, and the pitching is definitely harder to go up against, but this is a good experience for me and as the season goes on, I'll know more of what to expect."

Since most of the JV team from last year moved up to this year's varsity, that also meant a fairly new junior varsity team. They went right to work beating non-league team RLS 16-0. Catcher Eric Tarallo said, "We're working together as a team and not a bunch of individuals. We'll really see how our team work is against North Salinas and Seaside. I think they're our toughest opponents."

The Monterey Toreadore golf team faced the challenge of moving from the easier MBL League to the tougher MTAL League, which included golf powerhouses Carmel and RLS.

This move will give the Toreadore golfers tougher times, but with returning varsity golfers Ted Browne, Tai Lee, Sonja Simkins, John Sisson and the combined talents of freshman Chris Wagenseller and Ron Tumelson, they should finish respectably in the league perhaps taking the title.

The golfers, under the guidance of coach Andy Gonzales, made their home course at Old Del Monte, which is the site for many tournaments, including the Spalding and Monterey Open.

Senior varsity golfer and team captian Tai Lee said, "Our golf team has really shaped up the last couple of years; I feel our chances are excellent to take the title!"

Experience, Selectivity Pay Off

This season's varsity soccer team had more experienced players than it had last season, and Coach George Usher said, "I think that the players are enjoying the way that they are playing this year."

Coach Usher identified the most valuable players as Kook Han Kim, Bill Witt, Tom Kappel, and Martin Garcia. Coach Usher identified this season's toughest competitior as Gilroy.

The junior varsity soccer team had a lot better performance than last season because soccer popularity ran high. Many went out for soccer and Coach Dennis Trason could be more selective in choosing his team. Outstanding junior varsity players are Ubaldo Hernandez, Rick Aiello, Andy Evans, and Rocky Cardinale. Coach Trason said, "Rewarding was the improvement of the team as the season progressed." This season's toughest competitor was Live Oak, but the MHS team was improving greatly.

Making Waves . . .

Are students today content to coast or are they making waves? Did students at MHS concentrate on academics during the 1983-84 school year? In every school there are students who study and students who just kick back. MHS was no exception to that rule. Many MHS students felt that the majority breezed through high school and learned only enough to graduate. As senior Kim Car- rick explained, "I think there always has been and probably always will be students who try and want to achieve. However, there are also students who really aren't interested or don't care."

MHS provided the opportunity for students to take college preparatory classes. A small minority of students took advantage of these advanced courses. These classes included Biology II, United States History, and English from the ninth through twelfth grade. Next year the advanced placement curriculum may be expanded to include an AP Physics class. Counselors urged students to take difficult loads to prepare themselves for college and for the continually advancing world they face after high school. Courses taken were the choice of the student and no one else. Parents and counselors only guided students in their decision to either coast or make waves.

This year the Monterey High School English Department tried a new requirement policy for all college preparatory English classes. Probation was a system used to maintain the high academic standards in CP English. Based primarily on grades, the system sorted out students according to their grades. A student in CP English who received a D or F for the quarter or semester, was placed on probation. The parents signed an agreement allowing their son or daughter to remain in CP English. If the student did not improve his grades, he was placed in a regular English class.

Much controversy arose over the new probation policies. Many people felt that students placed in regular English classes did not learn as much as they did in CP English. Challenges such as those in CP English did not exist in regular English classes. Students did not push themselves to learn without the challenge. Grades did not measure the quality or quantity of information obtained. A large percentage of final grades are based on test scores. Many students do poorly on tests because they become nervous. Those students did not feel they should be forced to go into a regular English class. They felt that it should be their choice to stay in CP English, no matter what grade they received. One of these students was senior Nicole Hazdovac. "I learn more in CP English than in any other class. I don't think I would learn anything in regular English. I understand everything and learn a lot. I just don't do well on tests."

There was also another opinion on this new policy. Students in college prep English should be capable of doing the work and doing it well. If students can't keep up with the demanding pace of the class, they should be placed in an easier class. CP English is a privilege, not a right. Students who cannot handle the difficulty of college prep work,

As senior Rhonda Newton stated, "I am in CP English to learn and I don't want to have to wait for others who are too slow or disrupt class." There were many mixed emotions about the CP English probation. The system will probably continue to be a requirement next year.

dents were required to take several different types of standardized tests. The seniors took a state-wide test to measure the academic abilities of graduating seniors from MHS. Each senior took one section of the CAP test. The state compiled the scores and determined if Monterey High was deserving of the funds it received. If seniors did poorly on the CAP test, some funding may have been cut off. The lack of money in the school system would first affect extra-curricular activities. As teacher Dwight Thompson stated, "If you go into the test with a bad attitude and you don't do well on the test, you may be hurting your state and your school more than you think."

At the beginning of the year, college bound sophomores and juniors had the opportunity to take the PSAT. Students took the PSAT to give themselves some insight to the contents and format of the SAT. made waves toward their future.

There was one test which every student attending Monterey High had to pass in order to graduate. Proficiency tests contained basic information which every student had to know to survive in the world. The tests covered reading, writing, math, and study skills. The student took the proficiency tests twice a year except the senior year, when the tests were offered three times. This gave the student nine times to pass all four tests before graduation.

One elective offered at Monterey High was the ROP program run by Ms. Haskins. ROP provided students with job entry level skills ing, Banking, and Computer Electronics. ROP classes lasted two periods and students earned ten credits per semester.

Some different opinions arose over ROP credits. Asked if many students take ROP just to earn credits for graduation, senior Adela Garcia commented, "No, I think the main reason students take ROP is to get experience. Employers look for experience which is what you get in ROP." Most people felt the program was very profitable and helpful for students who entered the job world directly after high school.

But some people felt that students earned too many credits and really didn't deserve them. Ms. Rial commented, "I feel that it is not fair for the ROP students to get double credits. A student who has a good English class works just as hard, if not harder, and only earns five units."

Graduation requirements were changed at Monterey High for the class of '87. Because we are living in an age of technology, the math and science requirements were raised to 20 credits. An additional requirement of

Students will also be required to take 30 units in a major area of interest, such as art. Students won't be able to coast through high school as easily as before. But many students this year felt that the old ones were adequate. "I don't think the requirements should be changed. The college motivated students can always take harder classes," said Jeff Gorman. The high math and science requirements didn't seem too popular, but most people felt they were necessary. It was also a general pared. They needed academics, specialized training, ROP, and maybe just the cultural community. Karen Buckeldee commented, "One of the ways in which MHS does prepare students in that because we have many races mixed together, like the community does, we learn to live in harmony with all races." Unfortunately, not all students who graduated from Monterey High were ready for the real world. "It's not the school's fault if a student isn't prepared. It's the student's fault for not taking high school seriously enough," said Farimah Banimahd.

Students next year should ask themselves, Am I content to coast or am I going to make waves?"

What made the class of '85 different from the rest? The juniors were finally showing some spirit this year. They built a float that described their feelings about this past year . . . a number 1. The juniors this past year knew what was happening with the school and were really in tune with what MHS had to offer them this year.

The class officers really got activities organized for their class. They asked the juniors themselves what kind of activities they wanted and tried their best to follow them up.

As the class of '85 moves on, there should be a lot of partying going on, just like the group in the picture to the right.

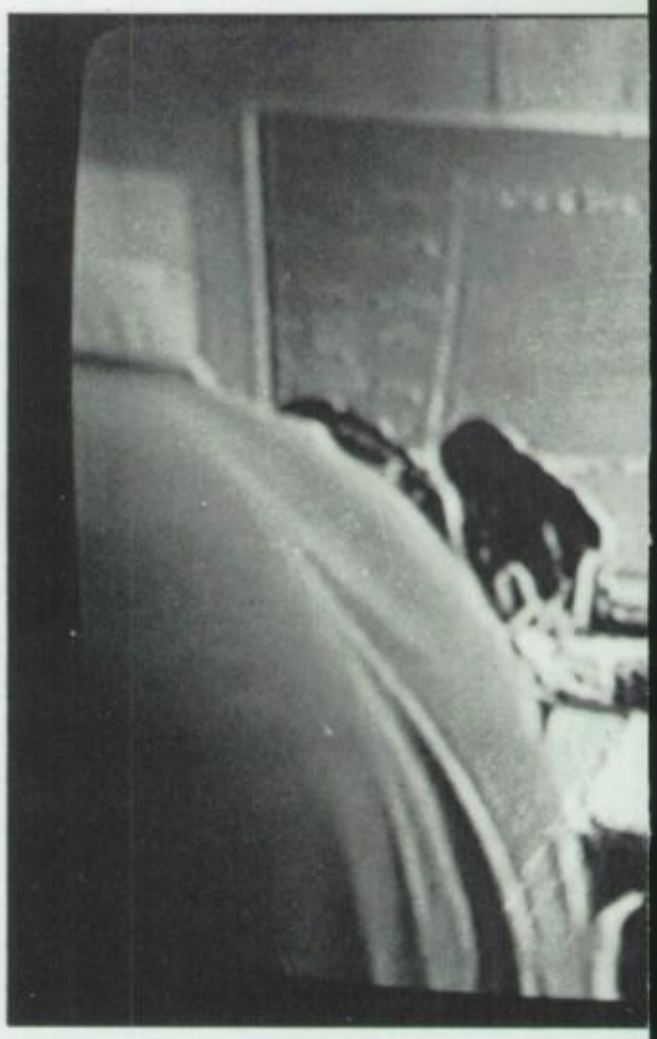
Toreadores Tackle TV



This year the Monterey County Office of Education televised the Monterey-North Salinas football game, a first for armchair Toreadores.

The funding for televising this game came from sponsors. Usually a high school game costs about $1000 to televise. This was the first year that MCOE TV Cable Network televised this game, due to their newly acquired mobile facilities. According to MCOE producer David Finley, the local cable network greatly needed community support.

The MCOE Cable Network served from Castroville to Atascadaro and was seen on channel 11. The crew, comprised of paid staff and high school ROP students, not only televised football games, but also featured students, administrators, and teachers. MCOE interviewed MHS teacher Gerry Montgomery, principal Jim Anderson, and senior Kevin Ahern, a varsity football player.

MHS reaction was positive about the first telecast. Senior Sebastian Rider summed it up: "Being on TV intensified the enthusiasm among the football players even that much more."

Starry Eyed

Did you ever sit in front of your television and have your heart skip a beat because your favorite star flashed across the screen? Of course you have! Everybody has a favorite star they would like to meet in person. But picture this: you, an MHS junior, sitting in a class with your favorite star at the front of the classroom teaching the class as you gazed longingly . . .

If you had a choice, who would this star be, and what subject would you have him or her teaching?

"I would like Rick Springfield teaching me how to get physical. Because he is so . . . cute!" stated Betty Declet.

Here we had an example of a teenager starstruck by a teen idol. But not all juniors are only interested in stars close to their own ages. "I'd like Tom Selleck teaching me P.E. because he's got all the right moves," said Donna Faro, with an impish gleam in her eye.

Not all juniors wanted their favorite stars teaching them physical education, however, "I'd get Billy Dee Williams, because he could teach a Biology II class any day for me!" Dottie Chavous practically shouted.

Some juniors disregarded all age boundaries, paid no attention to looks, and just thought about fun. Evie Humacher said, "I'd like George Burns teaching me history, because he'd make it laughs."

Every male junior who was questioned said they would like Loni Anderson teaching them P.E. because of . . . obvious reasons.

Fantasy Island at MHS

Dreams!! Wishes!! Fantasies!! We each have at least one fantasy we would sacrifice anything for. There are those fantasies we know can't happen and there are those fantasies we wish can happen. What fantasy would you like to see happen to MHS?

"My fantasy to MHS would be for it to be completely remodeled with space-age buildings with escalators to bring us to our classes rather than us having to walk up those tiring hills," declared Patty Dingle.

"My fantasy is to have a more open campus, more school spirit, and little space shuttles to drive us to class," said Mercedes Wesley. A couple of juniors didn't want to see just changes in the buildings. "I would like to see Prince as a singing teacher here at MHS," commented Dolly Reed. "I would like to see a lot more boys up here," stated Paula Fagan. Deanna Reynolds took a different tack and said she "would like to see the students get decent lunches." But on the serious side, Melorie Bowen's fantasy to MHS was "to see everyone happy, school spirited, and believing MHS is the best . . . which it is!" She went on to say that she "would also like to see the students show more respect towards each other as well as the teachers, activities, and namely the band."

We don't know what's in store for MHS in the future. But that didn't prevent the students of Monterey High School from fantasizing about what they would like to see happen.

Junior Pros and Woes

It was the best of times, it was the worst of times. Even with MHS juniors. What were the advantages and disadvantages of being a junior? "The advantages of being a junior are unlimited," said Patty Dingle, "You don't have to worry about learning the system of the school because you know it already from last year. You also don't have to worry about being prepared to leave the school as a senior would." She added that the disadvantages of being a junior "had to do with not having enough attention. Also because your junior year is the hardest academically."

To Mercedes Wesley, "a junior year gives you advantages of getting the experience needed to make it in the real world."

But what exactly is a junior? "A junior is a person who can't mess up their work and must study hard because next year, as a senior, is the time to party," declared Dolly Reed. She went on to say that next year she is "prepared to be on top like seniors are and will always be."

"I can't wait to make up some senior pranks," said Linda Natale who is also looking forward to her senior year.

The best of times outweighed the worst of times for the class of 1985.

GRAFITTI: THE QUIET RIOT

How do you feel about grafitti at MHS?

Michael Brown: I feel that if they would set aside putting bad things on walls about each other and if everyone would think positive, maybe, just maybe, the school leaders would set aside a wall for good grafitti so everyone will be amazed.

Canh Lai: I feel sorry when I see grafitti and I hate to read it when I see it.

Charles Hunter: I think grafitti is a bad impression on our school and it's nonsense.

Thanh Nguyen: I think grafitti is sometimes good to read and sometimes it isn't. Sometimes it makes you angry when they say something about you.

Jackie Barnett: I really don't mind it at all; as long as I didn't write it, it doesn't bother me, unless it is about me or a good friend.

Judy Sommers: I like grafitti because some are funny and interesting.

Scott Abbanat: Grafitti is like an unsigned great piece of art; it brings a little New York into Monterey.

Heather Hudson: I don't even notice grafitti because I'm so used to seeing it. It's a part of school life.

The Prom: An Absolute or An Obsolete?

The prom, in the past always the biggest event of every year. People got their tuxes and fancy dresses with matching shoes and went out for a good dinner.

People this year weren't all in the mood. Kayoon Kim said, "Nothing could make me go to the prom." Some others thought that the only difference between the prom and a dance was the expense of renting a tux, buying a new dress and shoes, and eating at a refined restaurant.

Perhaps the lack of spirit prompted some of these anti-prom sentiments.

Others favored the traditional prom and hoped that it would last forever. One of these was Ida Huang who said, "I think that the prom will always be a tradition because it is the most special dance of the year. Since it is also the last dance for the seniors and signifies their graduation."

To improve the prom, students suggested holding the prom with other high schools or involving the whole class in prom planning instead of just having the class officers.

Junior year. That period of time when you were almost there, but not quite. MHS juniors proved they were "there" when it came to being academically active. More than ever, the junior class showed interest and enthusiasm in Monterey's academic program.

To show their involvement, MHS juniors had the best attendance ever in the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test. The PSAT is given every to students interested in furthering their education in college. But that's not the only reason juniors took the test. Some took it just so they could see how they rated among other juniors around the country.

Junior Therese Ahern said, "I wanted to get an idea of what the SAT's were like and I wanted to show myself I could do well. I feel that college will be necessary to get a good job in the future and I'd like to be prepared."

Asked why he thought so many juniors participated in the PSAT, English teacher John Hoffman said, "Probably because of the state of our economy and the need for a college education and hi-tech jobs, more students realized that a college education is necessary for the future."

But not all juniors took the PSAT. Junior Chris Furman said, "I didn't take the test because I was too busy." But junior Nancy Ferrara said, "It all depends on what you want to do with your life. I think to get a halfway decent job, I should go to college."

The sophomore class faced old and many new subjects. The old one, which everyone knew about and looked forward to, was Driver Education. The new subject was Computer Education which was taught by Mrs. Montgomery. "It's great that the sophomores are working with computers. I would like to see seniors and juniors get involved," commented Mrs. Montgomery.

The sophomore class officers planned fund raisers which helped them with the Junior and Senior prom. As officers, they made sure that everything went smoothly for their homecoming float. Heather Wilson, class treasurer, enjoyed being part of the student council. She explained, "I would like to see the sophomore class get more involved with school spirit."

For most students, their first opportunity to take a photography class is in their sophomore year. Since we have such a fine photography department, which includes ten black and white enlargers and one color enlarger, more sophomores this year than ever have taken Photo I classes. Under the expert teachings of Mr. Weesner and Mr. Yoshinobu. many sophomores agreed with recent print-of-the-week award winner Linda Poe who said, "I would very much enjoy taking the Photo II class next year as a junior if my schedule permits."

Sophomores Determine Destinies

What do you want to be when you grow up? A million times that question has been asked and a million times the answer has been, "I don't know." Sophomores at MHS began to explore the possible career and college choices this year. They were required to take Guidance for one quarter, which covered job interviews, resumes, job applications, and a short session in the Career Center. There students did various exercises to help them choose careers and colleges. Many found these assignments to be to their advantage. Kelly Lind explained, "The Career Center helped me a little bit. It gave me an idea if I'm right for what I want to do." For the first time, sophomores learned basic computer functions, using the fifteen IBM personal computers given to MHS.

Many sophomores planned to go to college after graduation. But some had other ideas. As Ken Fukui commented, "I want to go to Japan and learn mechanics."

Talking with parents and counselors influenced many sophomore's decisions. "Generally my father and step-father have guided me, but my counselor convinced me to take hard classes," stated Jeff Gorman.

The sophomore year was only the beginning of the long decision process. Sophomores still have a couple of years to decide, and next year the upcoming sophomores will begin their decisions.

Innie, Outie, or Inbetweenie

Which do you have? An innie, an outie, or an inbetweenie? Of course these terms describe bellybuttons. Of the people polled there were seven innies, two outies, and one inbetweenie.

When Lynn Burke was asked what caused this, she replied, "It is determined by the way the doctor cuts the umbilical cord."

Note that the bellybutton is becoming a new focus of attention. Observe the chopped off T-shirts that football players, joggers, and sunworshippers all adopted this year.

Enjoy your bellybutton, whether it is an innie, an outie, or an imbetweenie.

Sophomores Behind The Wheel

Sweet sixteen. It seemed every sophomore looked forward to being sixteen. Why shouldn't they? That's when they can finally get off the bikes and into the cars. Then a problem arises. Whose car will these proud sixteen-year-olds drive? "I'll be driving my brothers', sisters', and parents' cars," said Anthony B. Davi. But not all sophomores were as fortunate. In fact some parents don't let their teenagers drive until their senior year! On the other hand, some sophomores are allowed the responsibility to drive their parents' car.

Still, another problem pops up. Who will pay for the insurance? "My parents will pay for my insurance," said Christina Russo.

But before the sophomores start driving, they must first go through Driver's Education. In Driver's Ed sophomores learn the basic driving laws of California. After passing the course, they are given a permit to allow them to practice behind the wheel driving for the major driving test.

However, these sophomores had to earn their driving permits. Sophomores watched a lot of films and did plenty of reading and paperwork. Did this class seem necesary to sophomores? "I knew a lot of what was taught in Driver's Ed already, but I also learned many new things," commented Lisa Chioino. "I learned enough to know that you start and stop with the brake and accelerator," said Mananna Tinsley. "I learned a lot about driving safety," stated Traci Cooper. Most sophomores took advantage of the course and realized the importance of the course.

"Driver's Ed is a neat program because it gets you ready for your state driver's test. It also gave people who didn't have the experience of driving the privilege to be behind the wheel," commented Charlotte Claypool. "I feel that Driver's Ed is a good opportunity for all teenagers. The course made us aware of just how dangerous drinking and driving really is," said Joann Ferante.

Now that the law has become stricter about teenage driving, the tests are harder to pass. But from the sophomores' comments their interest and concern will help them pass with ease.

"Oh, We Feel So Good"

Remember the rallies?

"Sophomores! How do you feel?"

"WE FEEL GOOD! OH, WE FEEL SO GOOD!"

Many times during the school year the ever-spirited sophomore class made their mark at the rallies with their undying vigor and vim. It seemed to some that sophomores couldn't be more spirited, but there must have been something that could have made the year better . . .

Angela Brown: More live cheerleaders and better rallies.

Mannanna Tinsley: More fine guys would help.

Santo Scardina: More rallies

Kim Ashley: More cute guys eighteen and over.

Tom Shope: Better looking cheerleaders!

Brian Lepai: Shorter class periods!

Cheryl Hopkins: Better things to do in class.

Lee Jones: More time between classes.

Charlotte Claypool: More enthusiasm about rallies and ball games! Don't be so negative about fun stuff!

Roeshella Jones: More sould music and dances!

Ella Williams: More good cheerleaders like Sandra Malone!

Shontelle Randell: More ditch days!

Spirited Sophs Face Transition

The transition this year for last year's freshmen to sophomores was one of difficulty and relief. No longer were they referred to as little twirps and found to be inhuman by the upperclassmen; this was all replaced with the reality of much tougher classes and much less free time to socialize with friends.

This transition showed on sophomores as they scuttled around campus with jumbled hair and glazed looks on their faces. Occasionally a few broke down and gave up as they collapsed in a hallway, but for the most part this year's sophomore nearly flew through the year.

Sophomores were recognizable by the upturned collars of their polo shirts, which became popular for this year's typical sophomore.

"Everything is new to us freshmen this year," said Tommy Quhyen. Faced with new situations and surroundings, it was hard for the freshmen class to begin their high school career. The freshmen class officers were faced with problems common to any in-coming class at MHS. Upon entering, the freshmen class had no money so they borrowed from ASB. Officers tried to raise some enthusiasm among class members, but many were too shy or scared. As Brandon Bowen explained, "The freshmen leaders hope to raise all the possible spirit in our class."

Hacky Hits Frosh Feet

What was the latest craze to hit Monterey High since Pac-Man? You guessed it, Hacky Sack. All over campus you could find groups anywhere from one to fifteen trying to keep the little sack from touching the ground.

The soccer-like game which requires fast reflexes and coordination kept many MHS students occupied during break, lunch, before school and after school. But who played? Well, almost everyone. The ever-popular sport caught on like wildfire and spread throughout the year. It's amazing how that $8.00 bean bag could caputre so much attention.

During a typical game of "Hacky" the skills could be pretty confusing for the uninitiated Freshman Sean Ryan said, "I've been playing for about a year and a half. Everyone else was playing so I thought I'd try. I definitely think it will become even more popular. Hacky is far from dying out."

Senior Siblings, Pals or Pests?

Is it better to have a big brother or sister at school or not? Older siblings spelled security during the beginning of the year. But as Rachel Wyllie pointed out, "They can pick on us even more."

Some freshmen were really frightened at the beginning of the year, and so the Principal's Advisory Committee worked out a program of exchange between upper classmen and underclassmen. Take a senior to lunch. Help a freshman find his or her class. Those were the objectives of this new program. The story ended happily; most freshmen adapted nicely with or without help from an older brother or sister.

Freshmen: Hassled But Happy

"Hey, you! Freshman! Get a job and get out of my way, will you!" Freshmen at MHS endured many comments such as these. Such comments are part of the struggle to become a senior. Some freshmen found high school to be a scary experience. But the general consensus among freshmen was that they wouldn't go back to junior high because high school was too much fun. As freshman Steve Fisk commented, "It's a lot easier to get along with people in high school than in junior high."

What is a "typical freshman?" At MHS this year, the freshman class made up the largest percentage of the total school enrollment. They were required to take six classes including English, math, world history, and PE. In their spare time, freshmen studied or played sports after school. On weekends, they almost always scraped up something to do. Some went shopping, surfing, and many did their homework. A typical freshman's Friday or Saturday night might have included parties, movies, or just going over to a friend's house to watch TV.

Monterey High's freshmen weren't as dull as many people thought they were at the first of the year. Besides, MHS taught them everything they need to know to have a little bit of the same kind of fun with next year's incoming freshmen.

To "Prep" Or Not To "Prep"

Last year preppies predominated in an MHS poll. Lacoste, Polo, and Topsiders were their trademarks from shoes to nightgowns. But this year those preppie labels weren't as popular. As Greg Pool said, "Preppies don't know who they are and they need a brand name to identify themselves." People like Greg didn't need a fad to follow.

Did punk surpass preppism? Beverly Van Pelt said, "Punk is what you want it to be. For some it is extreme and for others it isn't." Punk came to the USA via England and has fallen into the category of New Wave.

It wasn't clear whether punk (New Wave) had surpassed prep this year.

Are You A Vid Kid?

Do you have the following symptoms? Low on cash? Always have a token on you? Suffer from eye strain? Pride yourself on quick reactions? You may be suffering a terrible disease called videoitis; you're a vid kid, someone who can be found ninety percent of the time in a video arcade like ELA, Weird Harold's, or Oscar Hossenfellder's.

Video has progressed from pinball to cartoons. The most current is Dragon's Lair which is done on a laser disc.

Video games are more popular among freshmen than any other group. According to senior, Tim Harrison, "It is hard to play video games a lot due to the fact that I have other responsibilities on which to spend my money, one being gas."

Enjoy the games while you have the money to spend on them.

A Few Freshmen Frolic

"Do something! Anything! Don't wait until you're a senior. It'll be too late by then." This could be an example of advice given to a freshman by any upperclassman. Many freshmen listened to such advice, but continued to be afraid to get involved. Faced with a new environment, they wanted to adjust before trying anything new.

Was it hard to get involved as a freshman? Freshman Cindy Miller explained, "Sometimes you get worried about what other people think. Sometimes you just don't worry about it, and that's when you have the most fun." Freshmen that did get involved this year had fun, just as a member of any other class would. All activities were available to the freshman class, except Close Up, whose national bylaws prohibited freshmen. Some of the activities freshmen participated in included the ski club, German club, student council, and much more. Sports were the favorite activity among freshmen.

Many freshmen did not get involved this year. When asked if they planned to get involved in the rest of their high school years, the majority replied that they would definitely try their hardest to do so. And those that got involved this year don't plan to stop now!

Freshmen Survive Sarcasm

"Whatta freshman!" That's the line that made the class of '87 ready to quit school. Since this was the second year for freshmen at MHS, the shock had not quite died down. Everyone always heard how much upperclassmen despised freshmen. What did the freshmen have to say?

Freshman Holly Showalter expressed, "I can't wait until this year is over. I hate the abuse!"

On the other hand, the class of '87 had a lot of spirit. During the first rally, they competed very well with the upperclassmen.

Having arena scheduling predetermined, never getting desired electives, and just getting pushed around didn't stop the freshmen. The one and only freshman cheerleader, Darlee Cardinalli showed loyalty to her class by saying, "We're the best! Everyone else is just giving us a bad time."

Fast Changes, Fast Food

Why were freshmen shocked when they arrived? "There is a huge campus and more available to the students," said Jonathan Cook. Jenny Roberson commented, "High school is too big; we need motorscooters to get around the campus."

High school offered more variety. Now freshmen can have donuts, cookies, potato chips, and Hi-C. No complaints about that.

But freshmen felt pressure to adapt to MHS. "In junior high students are more immature," said Kelly Haas. Marnie LaNove summed it up: "We freshmen are expected to be less dependent on parents, teachers, and counselors."

Steve,
what a cool
guy you are. It was pretty fun in History even though I was always blamed for those
"mysterious" erasers hitting Jeki.
and I am going to write on people neck. Have a fun summer with your gook brother (Mike)

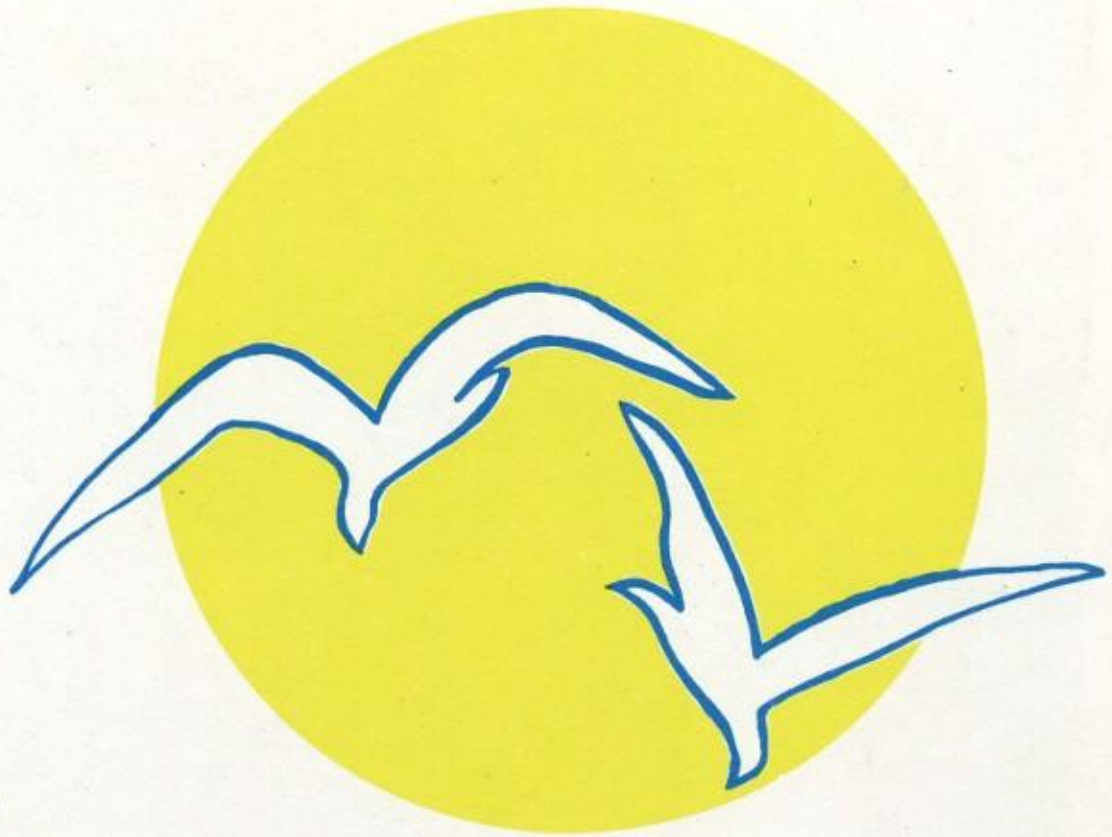
Love,
Cook



Steve,
I don't know why writing. Even though you aren't around and I mean our Glad to have you for 3 weeks to go to Detroit for at least 3 more.
a great summer.

Love ya,
Jocelyn
